ROBIN DUDASH OF INNOVATIVE QUALITY PRODUCTS & SYSTEMS INC. SPEAKS ON PANEL AT ISSA INTERNATIONAL CONFERENCE

Pittsburgh, PA – September 1, 2017 – Robin Dudash, President and Instructor at Innovative Quality Products & Systems, Inc., will speak on a panel for the ISSA International Conference. The conference is in San Diego, and starts on October 9, 2017. ISSA Women in Security SIG Session: Breaking into Cyber Security will be on October 10, 2017. Robin Dudash will be featured with other female experts in the field of cyber security.

In this discussion, panelists will talk about how to make a career in cyber security if you are female. To expand on this, they will share their experience, challenges they have faced, and their success breaking into the cyber security field. They will also give information on working in cyber security, and the different paths women can take in their career. They will explain the difference between the business side of cyber security and the technical side of cyber security, helping audience members determine what branch is right for them.

“I am very excited about providing my proven insight and guidance to other women on how to succeed in cyber security or any other industry,” says Ms. Dudash.

Robin Dudash, of Innovative Quality Products & Systems Inc., (also known as IQPS), will be joined by fellow panelists Antonella Commiato, a Partner and CISO of DeNovo Perspective, Betty Lambuth, President and Chief Information Officer of Information Technology Solutions & Security Inc., and Paige Needling, President and CEO of Needling Worldwide, LLC.

Robin Dudash is the Owner and President of Innovative Quality Products & Systems, Inc. She has been a senior ASQ member since 1994, and ASQ Education Chair for 18 years.
